

MyConnex Resources & Reporting Tool

Industry-Wide Support for Mobile Workforces

MyConnex is an industry-wide safety infrastructure built for the entertainment workforce. It is an encrypted online tool – accessible from any device, at any time – that provides IATSE members with clear options, confidential human support provided by the Ombuds, and worker-controlled reporting.

The result is earlier intervention, stronger accountability, and safer careers.

The Challenge Workers Face

Entertainment runs on the work of people behind the scenes who move from production to production on short-term contracts. If a supervisor harasses someone, speaking up can mean being labeled “difficult” across the networks that determine future employment.

Reporting can feel like career self-sabotage. When a job ends, access to internal reporting systems disappear, enabling repeat offenders to evade accountability across projects.

MyConnex changes these conditions. It delivers portable, independent safety infrastructure that moves with workers across employers and productions.

HOW: MyConnex offers one trusted place to start, combining four functions:

1. Informal guidance: Clear, plain-language information about rights and options across employers, unions, and guilds.
2. Independent support: Confidential access to the Entertainment Industry Helpline outside employer channels.
3. Worker-controlled tools: Personal time-stamped records; anonymous messaging and reporting; and Hold for Match, a worker-controlled matching tool that allows misconduct patterns to surface only when multiple people independently name the same aggressor. If another IATSE member reports the same person, the system will create an anonymous “match” and release both reports to an IATSE administrator.
4. Curated industry resources: Get additional support from organizations that provide emotional and legal support, counseling, and help for union members in the industry.

Together, these core functions lower the risk of seeking help, surface repeat behavior across jobs, and strengthen accountability and retention in a highly mobile workforce.

By combining guidance; independent and confidential support; and worker-controlled documentation and matching into one portable, industry-wide system, MyConnex is built for how entertainment work actually functions, across jobs, employers, and time.

IATSE members can access the secure, online Reporting Tool by visiting their Local's website for more information.

Other Ways to Get Support:

- Explore Resources and Know Your Rights: Visit <https://www.myconnex.org/> to learn more about your rights, find additional support, and get step-by-step information about how to report an incident.
- Talk to a Confidential Ombuds: Talk to a real person by calling the Entertainment Industry Helpline or scheduling time with the MyConnex Ombuds: <https://www.myconnex.org/ombuds-scheduling/#scheduling>.
